

Chrome delete front grill emblem

Friday, July 17, 2026 1:56 PM

The final piece of chrome delete was the T emblem in front grill. I don't know why this one wasn't done at factory but I still wanted to delete it.

This one was more difficult to do because there wasn't much out there that was reasonably priced when I was looking.

For example, I was only finding the one that is in the complete black out emblems kit for over $100! I wasn't about to pay that when I just needed the one piece out of the kit. There were separate ones on eBay and such that were around $50 - still too expensive.

Finally, I found a link to Mercari for $36.12 out the door! I grabbed it. Never ordered from there but heard of the place and it was shipped from California. Here's the link: <https://www.mercari.com/us/item/m74043233248/?sv=0>

Before:

After:

I was very happy with it. It was made from ABS and was just an overlay shell that went right over the one I had on the truck. There was double sided tape you used to secure it.

However, I did have to trim around the diameter after I had it on the emblem. I popped the emblem out to install it. Quality of the overlay was great but the thickness wouldn't allow it to just pop back in. I don't know if this is how the other overlays are for the front but I knew I had to trim somewhere. I decided to trim around the diameter of the overlay I just installed. I got the belt sander out and whittled it down until it was pretty thin around the OD. After I did that, it installed back in place perfectly.