

Realtruck window deflectors/visors

Monday, August 10, 2026 12:58 PM

Okay so this weekend I installed some window visors/deflectors. They were super easy to install just make sure the channel is clean then take backing off tape and hold it up until you roll the window back up.

I went with the Realtruck AVS ones. I tried to ordered a couple sets from Amazon that would have been less expensive but each one didn't fit my truck and I had to return. I think a good bit of vendors have incorrect info for our newer Tundras, especially if it's a Crewmax (like mine is).

Here are the ones I went with. It was $86.84 total.

<https://realtruck.com/p/avs-in-channel-vent-visors/avs-194888/>

Before:

After:

